- Itad expects that all Suppliers ensure strict adherence to all UK and in-country government tax requirements and will as set out in the Suppliers Registration Form, either:
 - (1) have in place and enforce their own policies in relation to fraud prevention and anti-bribery and governance policies that lead to a transparent and open book approach; or
 - (2) adhere to the following:

Fraud Prevention Policy

Introduction

Itad is committed to promoting and maintaining the highest level of ethical standards in relation to all of its business activities. Its reputation for maintaining lawful business practices is of paramount importance and this overarching Fraud Prevention Policy, is designed to preserve these values. Itad has and expects its Suppliers to have a zero-tolerance policy towards fraud, in all its forms. Itad is committed to protecting the funds it receives to ensure they are used appropriately to perform the services agreed with its clients. It is also committed to acting fairly and with integrity in all of its business dealings and relationships and implementing and enforcing effective systems to counter fraud.

Purpose and scope of Policy

Fraud is defined as any deliberate act intended to result in financial or personal gain to an individual or a company the individual is involved in, examples of fraud are as follows:

- Misappropriation of funds, services or other assets
- Dishonesty in the handling or reporting of money or financial transactions
- Using insider knowledge of company activities/information for financial gain
- Disclosing confidential company and/or client information to third parties
- Accepting or seeking anything of material value from third parties or potential clients of the organization. Exception: Gifts less than £50 in value.
- Destruction, removal, or inappropriate use of company information, or company equipment
- Any similar or related irregularity and dishonest act

This policy signposts the reader to specific Itad policies which manage each of the above issues, which sit under this broader fraud category. The relevant Itad policies are follows:

- Anti-bribery Policy
- Whistle Blowing policy
- Confidentiality
- Conflict of interest

All Itad Suppliers are required to sign up to these policies at the point of registration with Itad. At the point of contract all Suppliers (and personnel) working with Itad are required to confirm they have not committed fraud in the past. All policies noted above contain full definitions and guidelines on reporting should fraud be discovered or suspected during an engagement with Itad.

Protection of Funds

Itad is committed to protecting the funds it receives from clients to ensure they are used for the purpose for which they are intended. As a professional services organisation we operate all of our client assignments as contracts for services and we subcontract for services and goods with external parties through the appropriate legal agreements. All of our client contracts are managed through a detailed accounting system that allow us to monitor costs and services in a timely manner.

When we engage suppliers we go through a registration process to check the suppliers/companies identity. As part of that process suppliers are required to sign various declarations one of which is to confirm they have not previously committed fraud. We ensure that the services that we procure from both companies and individual experts are governed by a subcontract agreement. Itad only pays for professional services that are per the deliverables in the contracts, once the Project Manager has confirmed the quality is as expected. Our suppliers are required to also ensure those policies are passed through their supply chain, including transparency of subcontracting.

There is a rigorous process for setting up and signing off supplier accounts within a separate Itad team to ensure segregation of duties. When we receive an invoice from a supplier it is checked for completeness, all backup documentation is checked and the Project Manager is required to confirm all charges are per the subcontract and that the services have been received to the required level. The payments will be made to the vendor details that we have on file for the supplier. If the supplier requests vendor details to be changed, we have a formal policy to ensure that it is a genuine request from the supplier. All payment runs are signed off by a senior member of the finance team who ensures invoices have been correctly authorised.

Anti-bribery Policy

Introduction

Itad is committed and expects its Suppliers to be committed to promoting and maintaining the highest level of ethical standards in relation to all of its business activities in line with Itad values. Its reputation for maintaining lawful business practices is of paramount importance and this Policy is designed to preserve these values. Itad therefore has and expects its Suppliers to have a zero tolerance policy towards bribery and corruption and is committed to acting fairly and with integrity in all of its business dealings and relationships and implementing and enforcing effective systems to counter bribery.

Itad is proudly committed to supporting the Ten principles of the United Nations Global Compact which includes a commitment to work against all forms of corruption, including extortion and bribery.

Purpose and scope of Policy

This Policy sets out Itad's position on any form of bribery and corruption and provides guidelines aimed at:

- ensuring compliance with anti-bribery laws, rules and regulations, not just within the UK but in any other country within which the Company may carry out its business or in relation to which its business may be connected
- enabling employees and persons associated with the Company to understand the risks associated with bribery and to encourage them to be vigilant and effectively recognise, prevent and report any wrongdoing, whether by themselves or others
- providing suitable and secure reporting and communication channels and ensuring that any information that is reported is properly and effectively dealt with
- creating and maintaining a rigorous and effective framework for dealing with any suspected instances of bribery or corruption.

This Policy applies to all suppliers who perform functions in relation to, or for and on behalf of, Itad.

What is bribery and legal obligations

The UK legislation on which this Policy is based is the Bribery Act 2010 and it applies to Itad's conduct both in the UK and abroad. A bribe is an inducement or reward offered, promised or provided in order to gain any commercial, contractual, regulatory or personal advantage.

It is an offence in the UK to:

- offer, promise or give a financial or other advantage to another person (i.e. bribe a person), whether within the UK or abroad, with the intention of inducing or rewarding improper conduct
- request, agree to receive or accept a financial or other advantage (i.e. receive a bribe)
- for or in relation to improper conduct
- bribe a foreign public official

You can be held personally liable for any such offence.

It is also an offence in the UK for an associated person to bribe another person in the course of doing business intending either to obtain or retain business, or to obtain or retain an advantage in the conduct of business, for Itad. Itad can be liable for this offence where it has failed to prevent such bribery by associated persons. As well as an unlimited fine, it could suffer substantial reputational damage.

Policy statement

All Suppliers are required to:

- comply with any anti-bribery and anti-corruption legislation that applies in any jurisdiction in any part of the world in which they might be expected to conduct business;
- act honestly, responsibly and with integrity;
- safeguard and uphold the Company's core values by operating in an ethical, professional and lawful manner at all times;
- Comply with the UK Anti-Bribery Act 2010.

Bribery of any kind is strictly prohibited. Under no circumstances should any provision be made, money set aside or accounts created for the purposes of facilitating the payment or receipt of a bribe.

The Company recognises that industry practices may vary from country to country or from culture to culture. What is considered unacceptable in one place may be normal or usual practice in another. Nevertheless, a strict adherence to the guidelines set out in this Policy is expected of all Suppliers, supplier personnel and associated persons at all times. If in doubt as to what might amount to bribery or what might constitute a breach of this Policy, refer the matter to the Project Manager.

The giving of business gifts to clients, customers, contractors and other suppliers is not prohibited provided the following requirements are met:

- the gift is not made with the intention of influencing a third party to obtain or retain business or a business advantage, or to reward the provision or retention of business or a business advantage;
- it complies with local laws;
- it is given in the Company's name, not in the giver's personal name;
- it does not include cash or a cash equivalent (such as gift vouchers);
- it is of an appropriate and reasonable type and value and given at an appropriate time;
- it is given openly, not secretly;
- it is approved in advance by Itad

In summary, it is not acceptable to give, promise to give, or offer, a payment, gift or hospitality with the expectation or hope that a business advantage will be received, or to reward a business advantage already given, or to accept a payment, gift or hospitality from a third party that you know or suspect is offered or provided with the expectation that it will obtain a business advantage for them.

Responsibilities and reporting procedure

It is the contractual duty and responsibility of all Suppliers and personnel to take whatever reasonable steps are necessary to ensure compliance with this Policy and to prevent, detect and report any suspected bribery or corruption. Suppliers must immediately disclose to Itad any knowledge or suspicion you may have that you, or associated person, has plans to offer, promise or give a bribe or to request, agree to receive or accept a bribe in connection with the business of Itad. For the avoidance of doubt, this includes reporting your own wrongdoing. The duty to prevent, detect and report any incident of bribery and any potential risks rests not only with Itad but Suppliers too. Itad adheres to the Public Interest Disclosure Act 1988. Any concerns should be raised in writing to the Project Manager.

Itad encourages all suppliers and personnel to be vigilant and to report any unlawful conduct, suspicions or concerns promptly and without undue delay so that investigation may proceed and any action can be taken expeditiously. Confidentiality will be maintained during the investigation to the extent that this is practical and appropriate in the circumstances. Itad is committed to taking appropriate action against bribery and corruption. This could include either reporting the matter to an appropriate external government department, regulatory agency or the police and/or taking internal disciplinary action against relevant employees and/or terminating contracts with associated persons.

Itad will support anyone who raises genuine concerns in good faith under this Policy, even if they turn out to be mistaken. It is also committed to ensuring nobody suffers any detrimental treatment as a result of refusing to take part in bribery or corruption, or because of reporting in good faith their suspicion that an actual or potential bribery or corruption offence has taken place or may take place in the future.

Record keeping

All accounts, receipts, invoices and other documents and records relating to dealings with third parties must be prepared and maintained with strict accuracy and completeness. No accounts must be kept “off the record” to facilitate or conceal improper payments.

Sanctions for breach

A breach of this Policy could lead to the suspension or termination of any relevant contract, sub-contract or other agreement.

Monitoring compliance

The Executive Committee has lead responsibility for ensuring compliance with this Policy and will review its contents on a regular basis. They will be responsible for monitoring its effectiveness and will provide regular reports in this regard to the Board who has overall responsibility for ensuring this Policy complies with the Company’s legal and ethical obligations.

Ethics

Our Code of Ethics sets out guidance for the ethical behaviour of those that we work. We are expected by our clients to meet these standards and therefore require the same standards of our Suppliers. It is underpinned by our company values and sets out the minimum standards of behaviour and compliance. Where appropriate, the Code refers to legal requirements, other regulations and company policy. Our Ethical Framework includes policies in relation to professional conduct, modern-slavery, anti-bribery, equality and discrimination, research ethics, environmental and data protection.

Where relevant suppliers will be invited to complete Itad's online Ethical framework training.

Itad is committed to minimising any adverse environmental impact of its operations and services and to improving, where possible, the local, national and global environment for the benefit of present and future generations. We expect Itad suppliers to support these policies and commitments through the delivery of their work.

Equality policy

Itad is committed to promoting equality of opportunity for all and to complying with the Equality Act 2010. We aim to achieve a work environment free from discrimination or harassment, and in which all decisions are based on merit.

We do not discriminate on the basis of age, disability, gender reassignment, marital or civil partner status, pregnancy or maternity, race, colour, nationality, ethnic or national origin, religion or belief, sex or sexual orientation (“Protected Characteristics”).

All suppliers have a duty to act in accordance with this policy and treat colleagues with dignity at all times, and not to discriminate against or harass those that we work with regardless of their status.

All Suppliers therefore, are aware that the following acts are unlawful and/or would constitute misconduct and could result in disciplinary action, which may include dismissal:

Anti-Slavery and Human Trafficking Policy

Policy statement

Modern slavery is a crime and a violation of fundamental human rights. It takes various forms, such as slavery, servitude, forced and compulsory labour and human trafficking, all of which have in common the deprivation of a person's liberty by another in order to exploit them for personal or commercial gain.

Itad has a zero-tolerance approach to modern slavery, and we are committed to acting ethically and with integrity in all our business dealings and relationships and to implementing and enforcing effective systems and controls to ensure modern slavery is not taking place anywhere in our own business or in any of our supply chains.

Section 54 of the UK Modern Slavery Act (2015) requires commercial organisations operating in the UK with an annual turnover in excess of £36m to produce a 'slavery and human trafficking statement for each financial year of the organisation'. This legal requirement does not apply to Itad, however we are a strongly values driven company with a zero-tolerance approach to modern slavery. We are committed to acting ethically and with integrity in all our business dealings and relationships and to implementing and enforcing effective systems and controls to ensure modern slavery is not taking place anywhere in our own business or in any of our supply chains.

We conduct all of our activities professionally, with honesty and integrity and with compliance with UK law and the laws of the country in which we are operating; and expect our clients, partners and suppliers to do likewise.

The aim of Itad is to identify our responsibility by alerting staff to the risks, however small, in our business and in the wider supply chain.

Structure and supply chain

Itad is a UK based company who conducts its services largely from the UK however this does not mean we are not exposed to the risks of modern slavery or human trafficking. We have a number of policies in place to mitigate these risks in our internal business operations and through our supply chain. Our sectoral risk of providing services is relatively low risk in comparison to other sectors such as the supply of goods. We partner with international suppliers to deliver services to our clients all over the world. We mitigate our supply chain risks through our due diligence and registration processes. Our suppliers are required to comply with these registration processes, confirm their acceptance of this policy and confirm their adherence to legal requirements.

Policies in relation to Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking

We have the following policies in place which form part of our risk mitigation:

- Safeguarding & code of conduct
- Ethics policy
- Whistleblowing policy
- Bullying and harassment policy

- Equality policy
- Recruitment and selection policy
- Supplier code of conduct

Training and awareness

Itad is committed to sharing information and training about policies and good practice with all who work for us. This policy is provided as part of our 'Ways of Working' supplier pack. Online training is provided to all staff through our online training platform and to suppliers where applicable.

Responsibility for the policy

Itad's Executive Committee has overall responsibility for ensuring this policy complies with our legal and ethical obligations, and that all those under our control comply with it.

Management at all levels are responsible for ensuring those reporting to them understand and comply with this policy and are given adequate and regular training on it and the issue of modern slavery in supply chains.

The prevention, detection and reporting of modern slavery in any part of our business or supply chain is the responsibility of all those working for Itad.

Reporting concerns

If you feel comfortable in doing so you can raise your concern by speaking with your line manager (or project manager if you are external to Itad) or by e-mailing reportingconcerns@itad.com. You should express clearly if you would like your report to be treated as anonymous. Further information can be found here.

Whistleblowing Policy

Itad is committed to the highest standards of openness, probity and accountability. An important aspect of accountability and transparency is a mechanism to enable staff and other members of the Company to voice concerns in a responsible and effective manner.

Concerns on any subject can be raised with the relevant Project Manager or see the Reporting Concerns section.

This policy concerns 'Whistle Blowing' which has a specific meaning in law. If an individual brings information about a wrongdoing to the attention of their employers or a relevant organisation, they are protected in certain circumstances under the Public Interest Disclosure Act 1998. This is commonly referred to as 'blowing the whistle'. The law that protects whistle-blowers is for the public interest - so people can speak out if they find malpractice in an organisation. Blowing the whistle is more formally known as 'making a disclosure in the public interest'. If a matter is 'in the public interest' it will fall into one of the six categories as stated in the policy.

This policy is intended to cover concerns which are in the public interest and may at least initially be investigated separately but might then lead to the invocation of other procedures e.g. termination of contract. Qualifying disclosures are disclosures of information where the individual reasonably believes (and it is in the public interest) that one or more of the following matters is either happening, has taken place, or is likely to happen in the future:

- Financial malpractice or impropriety or fraud
- Failure to comply with a legal obligation or Statutes

- Dangers to Health & Safety or the environment
- Criminal activity
- Improper conduct or unethical behaviour
- Attempts to conceal any of these

It should be emphasised that this policy is intended to assist individuals who believe they have discovered malpractice or impropriety. Personal grievances (e.g. bullying, harassment, discrimination) aren't covered by whistleblowing law, unless your particular case is in the public interest.

Transparency and delivery chain

The FCDO requires full delivery chain transparency from all its supply partners. As an FCDO delivery chain partner and Itad partner or supplier, Itad expect the Subcontractor to support UK government policy initiatives including the support of micro, small and medium sized enterprises (where it is able), to pay its suppliers promptly, to take positive action at all times to prevent human rights abuses, tackle human trafficking and other modern slavery practices, and to support economic growth in developing countries.

Itad will not tolerate tax evasion, corruption, bribery and fraud by contractors and partners, and the Subcontractor's attention is drawn to the clauses in the Agreement which set out how Itad will respond to these types of incidents. The Subcontractor will provide assurance that the policies of their delivery chain also comply with this Code of Code.

Itad expect the Supplier to cooperate fully and to provide Itad with complete and accurate information to enable Itad to meet Itad's International Aid Transparency Initiative (IATI) transparency reporting obligations for FCO and DFID funded data. Itad expect the Supplier to familiarise itself with IATI requirements and to understand what this means for the Supplier. If the Supplier is unclear then they should ask Itad for more information. The Supplier may not impose restrictive exclusivity in its subcontracts which attempt to prevent its subcontractors from working directly for Itad or DFID.

Reporting concerns

Itad is committed to the highest standards of openness, probity and accountability. An important aspect of accountability and transparency is a mechanism to enable staff, sub-contractors, partners and those that we come into contact with a way to voice concerns in a responsible and effective manner.

Although the nature of a concern or issue reported may fall into different categories or processes the overriding principle is to report quickly and allow senior management to decide on the next steps.

We encourage employees and others who have serious concerns about any aspect of the Itad's work to come forward and voice those concerns. Those concerns could be in relation to (this list is not exhaustive); conduct which is an offence or a breach of the law (a criminal offence has been committed or failing to comply with any other legal obligation), disclosures related to miscarriages of justice, Safeguarding issue, racial, sexual, disability or other discrimination, human slavery or trafficking, Health and Safety of the public/ and or other employees, damage to the environment, possible fraud and corruption or other unethical conduct.

All concerns will be treated in confidence and every effort will be made not to reveal your identity if that is your wish. You are encouraged to put your name to your report whenever possible, concerns expressed anonymously are much less powerful and may impede the investigation.

You should report the nature of your concern and why you believe it to be true and provide any relevant background details related to the concern. If you feel comfortable in doing so you can raise your concern by speaking with your Project manager or by e-mailing reportingconcerns@itad.com.

You should express clearly if you would like your report to be treated as anonymous.

Further information regarding Itad's related policies can be requested by contacting mail@itad.com. In relation to projects funded by the FCDO, you can also report all suspicions or allegations of corrupt practice to the Internal Audit Department's Internal Audit Investigations Section via reportingconcerns@fcdo.gov.uk or on +44 1355 843747.

Safeguarding

Safeguarding Policy & principles

Unless otherwise agreed with the Subcontractor, this Safeguarding policy sets a standard to which all Itad suppliers are expected to comply and is driven from our company values and our culture. Adherence to this statement and its principles is expected throughout all of our internal and external activities.

Suppliers should refer to clause 6 in relation to confidentiality of the agreement for specific requirements.

Depending on the nature of the services being provided to Itad, suppliers may be asked to complete Safeguarding training to ensure they can fulfil the services to the client.

Safeguarding is a term used to describe how we protect adults and children from abuse or neglect and this policy sets out a framework for how Itad aims to ensure that we protect the wellbeing of our staff, suppliers and those that we come in contact with through our work as far as possible. We recognise that the care and welfare of those we work with, and of our staff, is paramount and that everyone has the right to be protected from all types of harm.

This document sets out a policy and framework of guidance that we expect suppliers to follow.

Behaviours that we expect to see are:

- Accountability – If you have a concern then respond or report, never assume someone else has or will
- Advocacy – Help others to put forward their own point of view. Leadership ensure that staff and others feel able to raise issues in confidence and that they will be listened to and responded to.
- Inclusion & equality – every individual is equally important and valuable and should be treated in that way. Everyone has an equal right for protection from harm and abuse
- Act quickly – take action and provide support as soon as a problem emerges before it gets any worse
- Vigilance and understanding – It can be easy to say that we are all busy, but it is important to take the time to understand situations and be alert so we can notice when something isn't right and respond appropriately
- Confidentiality – depending on the nature of the situation it may be appropriate to act with a high degree of confidence to protect the anonymity of individuals involved

Itad's principles to safeguarding are:

- Do no harm - we aim to protect the wellbeing of each other and those we come into contact with through our work.
- Everyone is responsible for safeguarding, not just management. We are all responsible for ensuring the safety and wellbeing of others and should report issues so they can be responded to accordingly. Therefore, we expect everyone to engage in this policy and its guidance to ensure it is best practice.
- We will act with integrity, be transparent and accountable. We will respect confidentiality where required.
- All actions taken will be done in the best interest of the child or adult.
- Everyone is treated equally irrespective of race, age, gender, religion, sexual orientation or disability.

As an organisation, Itad is committed to:

- Protecting those we come in contact with against physical and emotional harm, including all forms of physical and mental violence, injury or abuse (including sexual abuse), neglect or negligent treatment, maltreatment or exploitation.
- Ensuring checks are made when recruiting staff, subcontractors and consultants.
- Sharing information and training about policies and good practice with all who work for us.
- Sharing information and reporting about any concerns or issues with relevant agencies.
- Providing a safe supportive culture so that staff, consultants and partners are able to raise issues and concerns related to safeguarding appropriately.
- Leadership are committed to taking potential safeguarding issues seriously and in ensuring that appropriate steps are taken in a transparent and accountable way.

Code of Conduct

Where relevant subcontractors are required to sign Itad's Safeguarding Code of Conduct as a condition of engagement with Itad. A copy of the code will be provided at point of engagement it is also provided in this policy for information.

Scope and purpose

All staff and subcontractors are required to sign this Safeguarding Code of Conduct as a condition of employment or engagement with Itad. You are expected to uphold the integrity and reputation of Itad by ensuring that your professional and personal conduct is consistent with Itad's values and standards.

Safeguarding is a priority for Itad. All those covered under the scope of the policy are expected to accept certain responsibilities, adhere to acceptable business principles in matters of personal conduct, and exhibit a high degree of personal integrity at all times.

This Code of Conduct sets out a minimum standard in terms of behavioural expectations. The Code is applicable at all times. This not only involves respect for the rights and feelings of others but also demands that you refrain from any behaviour that might be harmful to you, your co-workers, and/or Itad, or that might be viewed as such by the public at large.

Whilst recognising that local laws and cultures differ considerably from one country to another, Itad works internationally, and therefore the Code of Conduct is developed from international standards. Itad staff and subcontractors are expected to uphold local law as a minimum wherever they operate, except where the Code of Conduct is more stringent, in which case the Code applies.

Breaching this Code of Conduct may lead to suspension (this may be immediate and without prejudice) and following an investigation, termination of any type of engagement with Itad. This will be on a case by case basis ensuring that applicable employment conditions and legislation are covered and that relevant disciplinary processes are followed. Where necessary it will also result in information being passed onto relevant regulatory bodies, funders, law enforcement, and child protection agencies.

Governance & Risk management

Itad commit to:

- Ensuring that these expectations and policies are adhered to by subcontractors and downstream partners
- Reviewing this framework of policies at least annually to ensure it continues to reflect Itad culture, values & best practice within the sector
- Ensuring that issues raised under this framework are responded to quickly, appropriately and ultimately with the welfare of those involved at the forefront
- Ensuring that risks are mitigated appropriately, particularly within projects which involved contact with children or vulnerable adults

Designated Senior Safeguarding Officer

Itad Senior Safeguarding Officer is responsible to deciding on the course of action to be taken should a Safeguarding issue be reported. It may be that the issue falls under a different reporting process depending on the situation, however the Officer will ensure that the issue is responded to quickly and appropriately and will act in a confidential way to protect those involved when required.

Risk management

Principle Safeguarding risks in Itad's operations exist in projects which involve:

- working with vulnerable adults and/or children, directly or through 3rd parties
- working in countries with a high safeguarding risk environment (e.g. where there is credible data of exploitation/abuse at official or community level)
- working with unverified 3rd parties
- unexpected engagement with vulnerable adults and/or children

Itad has included safeguarding criteria in existing risk management processes which start at the Proposal stage. This allows for consideration of potential safeguarding issues and mitigations at the start of the project process.

The criteria for highlighting risks include a combination of countries with known high safeguarding environments; projects which involve access to vulnerable adults and/or children; working with unverified 3rd parties.

This risk assessment is then revisited at Project kick-off stage and again at set points in time depending on the phases of the project. See Annex 5 for an overview of the project process.

Any projects rated high risk or above are escalated to the Senior Safeguarding Officer and any projects rated extreme risk and above are escalated to the ARRC. Other risks will be reported to the ARRC Quarterly and will include audits of projects to ensure the right processes are being put in place.

Supply chain management

When Itad enters a partnership or consortium with other companies or organisations it is part of Itad's due diligence to check that those we are working with will also ensure the safeguarding of their staff and contracted consultants as well as those they come into contact with through their work.

Reporting and raising concerns

Although the nature of a concern or issue reported may fall into different categories or processes the overriding principle is to report quickly and allow the Senior Safeguarding Officer to decide on the next steps. Suppliers should raise their concern to the relevant Itad Project Manager where possible. Where this may not be appropriate please refer to the Reporting concerns section.

How should you report?

Environmental

We are a socially-conscious organisation which is committed to the ten UNGC principles – our primary purpose is to provide insights and drive better use of resources in international development. Unfortunately, it is the poor and marginalised communities that we aim to help who will be most affected by the effects of global warming. Facts such as these have encouraged us to look inwardly and think about what we can do as a company to be part of the solution, and not the pollution – especially considering our carbon footprint due to frequent international travel to deliver our work. Our position as leaders on evidence-based reflection and strategy put us in a great position to push for climate smart ways of working and living and we expect our suppliers in engage in this with Itad as part of our delivery.

Suppliers should refer to Appendix 6 of the Agreement.

This policy presents our approach to managing Itad’s environmental impact and details our commitment to continually improving our corporate environmental performance. We commit to:

- Monitoring and reporting on Itad’s environmental impact
- Embed the mitigation of adverse environmental impact across our projects
- Engage those that we work with in in a culture of environmental awareness and responsibility

We expect Suppliers to commit and engage in the following:

- To conserve energy, water, paper and other resources, particularly those which are scarce or non-renewable, while still maintaining a safe and comfortable working environment
- To reduce waste through minimisation, reuse and recycling (3 Rs) and by using sustainably sourced and recycled products and materials where available
- Incorporate environmental considerations into all relevant decisions and activities
- Avoid the purchase of products using excessive packaging
- Work with clients to improve environmental performance where this is relevant to the contract

We expect Project teams to commit and engage in the following:

- When designing the delivery of our projects, alternative means to international flights should be considered. For example, considering if and when team meetings can be held remotely (via online conference software) rather than face to face.
- Consider the local context and the specific potential environmental impacts of our work and engage with local partners when required to ensure we minimise any impacts.

Terrorism

Itad declares that we have never been convicted of terrorist offences or offences linked to terrorist activities. We also take steps to ensure that firms or individuals connected to us have not been convicted of any terrorist offences or are linked to terrorist activities.

<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/proscribed-terror-groups-or-organisations--2>

As part of Itad's registration process Suppliers are expected to provide the same declaration as above.

Should this position change and any subcontractor or any firm or individual connected to Itad is found to have been convicted of terrorism offenses then it will be reported through the contracting chain and Itad will cease to work with that individual or subcontractor immediately.

Global Safety & Security

Policy Statement

At Itad, we are dedicated to providing insight and ideas to drive more effective use of resources in international development. To fulfil this strategic objective, Itad's suppliers operate in environments that contain a broad range of safety and security risks.

In recognition of this, Itad has developed a Global Safety & Security Risk Management Framework that aims to manage and minimise the safety and security risk that its employees and consultants may be exposed to when travelling overseas, following an incident, and during the delivery of projects.

At Itad, the management of safety and security risk is seen as an enabling process that forms an integral part of day-to-day decision making, and that positively contributes towards Itad's broader strategic objectives rather than inhibiting them.

Suppliers should refer to Appendix 5 of the Agreement.

Scope & Application

Itad's Global Safety & Security policy applies to all consultants that are working or travelling across the entire breadth of activities Itad may undertake internationally. The policy articulates our corporate risk appetite and outlines roles and responsibilities, core principles, and standards, that should all be adhered to by employees and consultants that travel on behalf of Itad.

Third parties such as subcontractors, agents, joint venture associates or suppliers engaged by Itad must not do anything to put Itad or any of its employees or consultants in breach of this policy. They must also reasonably co-operate with Itad to ensure that this policy is put into and remains in effect throughout the duration of the relevant project that they are involved in.

Duty of Care

For Itad, Duty of Care is defined as an obligation to ensure that reasonable care is taken to protect employees, and consultants and associated parties from unnecessary risks when they are performing foreseeably harmful activities during the course of their work. Itad accept this Duty of Care towards its employees and consultants.

Itad recognises that it is limited in what it can reasonably provide by way of support for different individuals it bears a duty of care towards. As such, the following outlines what Itad is committed to provide for all individuals that come under its duty of care responsibilities:

For subcontracted individual consultants, Itad is committed to:

- Providing a set of coherent and accessible policies, procedures and resources that support the management of safety and security risks during overseas travel, following an incident or when delivering projects;
- Informing consultants of any safety and security policies and procedures they must follow during travel overseas, following an incident and when delivering projects;
- Briefing consultants on any roles and responsibilities that are assigned to them for managing safety and security risks upon taking up their duties;

- Providing 24/7 support in the event of a security or safety incident;
- Providing access to comprehensive global travel and medical assistance through sufficient corporate insurance;
- Providing access to appropriate security training commensurate to risk exposure and/or role;
- Providing access to contextual safety and security information through dedicated closed-sources, and share / circulate other pertinent information derived from open-sources.

For third parties working as agents, subcontractors or in partnership with Itad, Itad is committed to:

- Assessing the capacity and capabilities of external companies in terms of their ability to manage safety and security risks in line with Itad's principles and standards, and providing guidance and support where gaps are identified;
- Ensuring external companies are aware of and fully understand this policy, and agree to subscribe and adhere to Itad's principles when undertaking work on behalf of Itad;
- Where possible, supporting external companies in responding to an incident or crisis when it has occurred during the contract period.

Risk Appetite

Itad's approach to the management of safety and security risks is not to simply avoid them, but to manage them within acceptable limits to ensure that the likelihood and impact of its employees and consultants suffering unnecessary harm is minimised as far as reasonably practicable. We have a clearly defined corporate risk appetite statement that is set by Itad's board of directors and is used to benchmark decisions against. This allows a universal tolerance level to apply across the breadth of Itad's overseas activities, spanning all projects, staff, and contractors.

Itad's appetite to accept safety and security risks will always be informed by a methodical and calculated assessment, carried out by security professionals in consultation with client's, partners, staff, and independent consultants. Decisions are taken at operational and strategic levels, depending on the residual risk exposure, and are calibrated in line with our corporate risk appetite.

Emergency Incident Response

To support our subcontracted individuals, Itad have a trained in-house Crisis Management team (CMT), Media team, Family Liaison Team and external emergency assistance provider that in the event of an incident can mobilise to assist our teams in all locations Itad work in.

The CMT ensure that any medical emergency is being treated by the best physicians in the region at internationally recognised hospitals, mobilise medivacs, and arrange direct payments through Itad's travel insurance. In cases of security incidents, our incident response partner can organise an on the ground support team in any country we operate in to support our team members and monitor global events to make sure our teams are fully informed of the situation on the ground at any time.

Travel arrangements

Visas – applicable to individual subcontractors only

It is the traveller's responsibility to maintain a current passport that is valid for travel. This may include expiry timeframes (typically 6 months minimum) and blank pages.

The Itad travel team can assist with visa applications for based in the UK through our partner company, however they will not complete applications or attend appointments on the traveller's behalf.

Travellers based outside the UK are responsible for arranging their own visa applications which can then be expensed to Itad, however Itad can assist with advice where possible.

The processing and application timeframes must be checked when the trip is first proposed, remembering that Consular deadlines are a minimum, may be affected by foreign public holidays, and that transit time must be added, including time involved in the acquisition of required documentation.

As of 2021 UK nationals travelling to the Schengen zone must have 6 months validity on their passport and must not spend more than 90 days within the EU in any 180 day period. This includes work and personal travel. Travellers will be responsible for keeping track of their European days and notifying the GSS team if they need a visa for a specific European country prior to travel.

EU nationals may also require a visa to enter the UK, this should be discussed with the GSS/ Project team in good time before travel is needed.

Itad's full travel policy can be made available by asking the relevant Project Officer or contacting travel@itad.com.

Conflict of interest

Itad suppliers are registered through a rigorous process to ensure they meet Itad's high standards. This includes a declaration to raise any potential business conflicts of interest from the outset. Through our subcontract clauses, our suppliers are required to sign the conflict of interest declaration and importantly the requirement to report any potential or realised conflicts.

Itad is a global organisation. Our strategy, monitoring, evaluation and learning services work to make international development more effective. We generate evidence on important issues – from malnutrition to migration – to support our partners to make informed decisions and improve lives.
